Into the Light

Turning back the hands of time, now looking from a far.
Like watching the scene played on a stage.
Our youth, so precious thing we know,
the choices that we make, foundation that we lay.

Now that the story is told and chapters still unfold,
We find that what we sought outside is always in us.
In to the light, we finally find our way,
The promise of a day with love for one another.

Though we rise time
Overcoming fear, embracing the light to guide your way
Truth was always waiting there
Blind will lead the blind?
Kjhkhlkhlkjhklhjlhkljhk?
The voice that lets us know our lives together.
Into the light we
We take the gift of light to share all of others.

This illusion people, living a lie thinking of one day
Wipe the slate clean now and you can write a new chapter of dreams not yet told that has you
As for the truth, it's always there you know, the voice that lets us know our lives can be better.
Into the light. We'll search for brand new highs, we'll take the gift of light to share with all our brothers.

Now that the story is told and chapters still unfold,
We find that what we sought outside is always in us.
In to the light, we finally find our way,
The promise of a day with love for one another.
Into the light.
The story is told
Into the light.
The story is told.